

Google+ experiencing outage, temporarily the anti-social network

 Heater
February 15, 2013

We know, we know. You were trying to get on with your online social life this morning, but Google+ was nowhere to be found. Looks like the social network is experiencing an outage today -- here in the States at least. According to folks in the UK, things are moving a lot more swimmingly on that side of the pond. We've reached out to Google for a response. You'll know more as soon as we do.

Update: Looks like everything's back in working order. You can quit complaining about it on Facebook now.

In this article: google, google plus, GooglePlus, outage, plus

All products recommended by Engadget are selected by our editorial team, independent of our parent company. Some of our stories include affiliate links. If you buy something through one of these links, we may earn an affiliate commission.

Comments

Popular on Engadget

Engadget's 2020 Back-to-School Guide

Amazon has eliminated single-use plastic at its Indian fulfilment centers

Facebook used 86 percent renewable energy in 2019

Walmart is turning some of its parking lots into drive-in theaters

Microsoft and Google team up to bring more web apps to the Play Store

From around the web

Follow
Us

© 2020 Verizon Media. All rights reserved.

About Verizon Media Reprints and Permissions Suggestions Privacy Policy \(Updated\) Terms of Service \(Updated\) Trademarks Advertise