

Got A Tip?

FOLLOW US:

- TV
- FILM
- AWARDSLINE
- BOX OFFICE
- BUSINESS
- HERO NATION
- INTERNATIONAL
- BROADWAY
- VIDEO
- NEWS ALERTS

MENU

READ NEXT:

Nicole Thea Dies: The Pregnant YouTube Star Wa...

Got A Tip? TIP US

- HOME
- BUSINESS
- NEWS

Sony PlayStation Network Finally Out Of The Woods? Services Returning, Slowly

By David Bloom, Nellie Andreeva
December 28, 2014 8:48am

3651COMMENTS

10th UPDATE, SUNDAY, 8:45 AM: It’s hard to pronounce the patient healed just yet, but Sony’s PlayStation Network this morning finally appears to moving past several days of heavy cyber assaults that left it mostly inaccessible to gamers – apparently distributed denial-of-service attacks that made it impossible for legitimate.

Sony is posting this on its main customer-service Twitter feed: “The PSN is gradually coming back online. Please try to sign in again. Any problems please let us know.”

Catherine Jensen, the VP Consumer Experience for Sony PlayStation unit SCEA, also updated her post from Saturday (see the initial post below). Now, she writes, the site is up:

“

UPDATE: PlayStation Network is back online. As you probably know, PlayStation Network and some other gaming services were attacked over the holidays with artificially high levels of traffic designed to disrupt connectivity and online gameplay. This may have prevented your access to the network and its services over the last few days.

Thanks again for your support and patience. We'll provide any further updates here.

Complaints on DownDirector.com are still spiking occasionally, and are still above what might be considered a “normal” level, but are an order of magnitude below what was hitting the site beginning Christmas Eve. The attacks were claimed in a string of tweets by an anonymous hacker or group of hackers called Lizard Squad, who have previously attacked PSN multiple times. Logging on to the site and playing network-dependent games such as Destiny was possible for at least some gamers beginning Saturday late afternoon and evening.

Rival Microsoft's Xbox Live network, which also was attacked by the same group but less consistently or successfully, also appears to be running, according to its status page and DownDirector.com

ADVERTISEMENT

9TH UPDATE, SATURDAY, 1:48 PM: Sony has mostly stuck to tweeting updates on its PlayStation Network status via its support feed @askplaystation. But after saying this morning its PS3, PS4 and Vita network services were coming back online after three days of disruption due to a hacker attack, a human with a name has decided to weigh in on the company's Playstation blog. From Catherine Jensen, Sony Computer Entertainment America VP Consumer Experience, who says you should blame the console you just got for Christmas for these past few days of problems:

RELATED STORY

Another Attack On Sony Shuts PlayStation Network, Store

“

The video game industry has been experiencing high levels of traffic designed to disrupt connectivity and online gameplay. Multiple networks, including PSN, have been affected over the last 48 hours. PSN engineers are working hard to restore full network access and online gameplay as quickly as possible.

From time to time there may be disruptions in service due to surges in traffic, but our engineers will be working to restore service as quickly as possible.

If you received a PlayStation console over the holidays and have been unable to log onto the network, know that this problem is temporary and is not caused by your game console. We'll continue to keep you posted on Twitter at @AskPlayStation and we'll update this post once the problems subside.

Thanks again for your patience.

It's been slow going for PSN since last night, though downdetector.com is in pretty good shape right now hovering around 20 complaints (those had spiked to around 9,300 last night).

Xbox Live, which has also been sporadically dealing with a DDoS attack, says its core services are back but is reporting limited social and gaming capabilities, meaning it is still having issues connecting gamers online for gameplay. They expect an update in the next half hour so stay tuned.

8th UPDATE, SATURDAY, 9:15 AM: Sony tweeted overnight on its support account that “PS3, PS4 and Vita network services are gradually coming back online, thank you for your patience”, but issues clearly remain. There are some reports that glitches overnight were maintenance related, and by a rush of gamers eager to finally play their new consoles and games. Most recently, Sony noted that some users were experiencing sign-in issues on PS3 and PS4 and engineers were investigating the cause. Efforts to log in this morning onto the site, after succeeding last night during a window of availability, failed.

It’s important to note that there have been periodic breaks in the attacks over the past three days, with service appearing to be restored, only to go down again within a few hours. Latest reports of problems on downdetector.com are hovering around 4,100, down from last night, when complaints spiked from from nothing to around 9,300 at about 9 PM. Complaints have been growing steadily all morning other than a brief drop off.

Meanwhile, @LizardBesties – a Twitter feed for someone possibly connected with or at least supportive of Lizard Squad, the anonymous hackers claiming credit for the attacks – tweeted this morning, “@AskPlaystation how much longer.” That led to what is the new stock answer from PlayStation’s customer-service Twitter feed: “We’re aware that some users are experiencing sign-in issues on PS4 and PS3; engineers are investigating the cause.”

ADVERTISEMENT

Meanwhile, Xbox Live, the competing gamer network from Microsoft, appears to be fully back online after its own, less severe outages that Lizard Squad also took credit for. A company status page says all core services are running, though three third-party apps that run on the network, including one for gamer site IGN.com, continue to have problems. DownDetector is reflecting less than 200 complaints, something around normal, particularly when adding a lot of new users after the holiday gift-giving days.

We’ll continue to monitor and update as circumstances evolve.

7TH UPDATE, FRIDAY 11:15 PM: So much for a return to service. While the PlayStation Network continues to function for some, as commenters and other indicators have (strongly) suggested, the online network for gamers has fallen back into the can’t-access limbo that has dogged it the past three days.

After a brief return to what appeared to be functionality, Sony is posting Tweets on its support lines that are again saying it’s performing maintenance and has ‘no ETA’ for a return to operations. The tweeted response for just about everybody is now “No ETA available yet, but our engineers are working to fix it as soon as possible, thank you for your patience.”

Complaints on DownDetector.com have also jumped back to high, though not peak, levels for PSN. Meanwhile, Xbox Live appears to be back in operation, though complaints against it on DownDetector remain heavy. The Xbox status page says the network is running all core services, with only a handful of problems affecting three apps.

6TH UPDATE, FRIDAY 8:38 PM: Sony’s PlayStation Network appeared to be back up at least partially and operating for a while, for at least some players, after three days of attacks by hackers that stymied eager fans from accessing the online gamer network during the Christmas holidays. Complaints about service were down substantially, but as our own comments show, some are still unable to access. How long that will last, as Sony continues to show that it’s performing maintenance and has ‘no ETA’ on return, still isn’t clear.

Microsoft’s Xbox Live service also appears to be operating at something closer to normal, though there are still quite a number of complaints about service coming in for both online gamer networks, according to system-monitoring site DownDetector.com.

Indeed, even Sony’s own Twitter feed is not yet declaring victory, telling inquirers that they have no ETA yet for restoration of service. But complaints were down dramatically on DownDetector for a while, and attempts to directly access the service on a PS4 game console were successful, something that couldn't be said the past 60 hours or so with any reliability.

The attacks seem to have been distributed denial-of-service attacks, relatively unsophisticated attacks that bury a site with a flurry of thousands of false attempts to log on, making it difficult or impossible for legitimate users to get onto a site. That means some people may be able to get through all the fake requests for access and use the site. An anonymous hacker or group of hackers calling itself the Lizard Squad again took credit for the attacks in a series of tweets since Christmas Eve, but one of the most recent ones this evening said "the attacks are over."

For fans eagerly waiting to play Destiny, Call of Duty: Advanced Warfare or Battlefield 4 on their new game consoles, it's been an annoying three days. Whether the assault is finally done or is just going through another respite (as happened overnight for a couple of hours each night previously), isn't known.

We'll continue to monitor and update as circumstances evolve.

5TH UPDATE, FRIDAY, 1:50 PM: Microsoft's Xbox is running a status page saying Xbox Live's core services are back up, though it still is having issues with Purchase and Content Usage, watching live TV (just added that one), and a few apps appear to be having problems. Site monitor DownDirector.com is showing reports of complaints down dramatically in the past half hour or so.

Meanwhile, messages on Sony PlayStation Network's are heading back into "no ETA" territory as that network remains paralyzed by an apparent DDoS attack beginning on Christmas Eve. The last Twitter update earlier this afternoon:

“

Update: We are working to restore full network services for all platforms – thanks, as always, for your patience!

— Ask PlayStation (@AskPlayStation)

December 26, 2014

4TH UPDATE, FRIDAY, 8 AM: After another short overnight respite, Sony's PlayStation Network and Microsoft's Xbox Live online network again continue to be disrupted by what appear to be distributed denial-of-service attacks.

Sony hasn't responded with anything new on Twitter through its main customer support feed, responding to most inquiries with either "We are aware that some users are unable to access at the moment. Our technicians are working to fix this issue," or "There is no time frame at the moment, stay tune for updates."

Microsoft's Xbox Live, though not showing nearly as many complaints on system-monitoring site DownDetector.com, is also showing problems again after another short overnight break. We'll continue to monitor as this plays out in Day 3 after the attacks, claimed by anonymous hacker group Lizard Squad, began late afternoon on Christmas Eve.

3rd UPDATE, THURSDAY, 6:20 PM: Sony just posted on one of its main Twitter feeds, acknowledging that the PlayStation Network continues to be offline and that it has "no ETA" for when the service will return to operation. Meanwhile, attacks appear to have renewed in the past two hours on Microsoft's competing Xbox Live network.

Later Thursday Update: Five hours later, there has been little progress on the PSN front. "Our engineers are continuing to work hard to resolve the network issues users have experienced today," AskPlayStation tweeted at 11:30 PM. "Thanks for your continued patience!"

The Internet-monitoring site DownDetector.com shows that there was a brief respite from the worst of the attack earlier this afternoon. The attacks started last night for several hours, eased off overnight and picked up again this morning. It appears to have picked back up again, and we're seeing lots of complaints.

It's likely another distributed denial-of-service attack (using a botnet to flood a site with tens of thousands of access requests, overwhelming servers), not the sort of hyper-sophisticated and in-depth attack that crippled Sony Pictures Entertainment last month. But Sony isn't saying much as they deal with this, and gamers are getting frustrated.

There are also some Twitter posts by Lizard Squad, the anonymous hacker group that attacked Sony, offering Microsoft gift cards and selling Social Security numbers for two specific people for $500. The Microsoft competing online network Xbox Live was also down last night and has had some elevated levels of problems, but largely hasn't been as crippled as PSN, at least until about two hours ago. According to DownDetector, complaints of service problems skyrocketed beginning around 4 PM ET and continue.

For those just wanting to watch The Interview – the controversial film believed at the heart of the original Sony hacking attack and possibly connected to the Lizard Squad attacks as well – another Sony outlet, the stand-alone website seetheinterview.com, has managed to survive any attacks and is still making the film available to fans who want to watch it at home. That's no consolation for gamers on PSN and Xbox Live who clearly, based on our voluminous comments, feel like collateral damage in this latest round of Christmastime assaults.

We'll monitor as this goes on.

2ND UPDATE, THURSDAY, 5:20 PM: No official update from Sony's PlayStation yet but things appear to be getting a little better as a number of PSN users tell Deadline that they have been able to get back online. The number of PSN problems detected by DownDetector.com dropped fivefold in the past hour, from over 5,000 to around 1,000. We will continue to monitor the situation.

UPDATE, THURSDAY, 9:18 AM: After recovering from a roughly six-hour outage last night, Sony's PlayStation Network is back down again this morning, it appears. And the hacker collective claiming credit for the outage said it also has taken down rival Xbox Live network as well, though that couldn't be verified.

Complaints logged at one system-monitoring company, DownDetector.com, show another big spike of problems on PSN, the online network, this morning. Attempts to access the network and the PlayStation Store directly also failed. (This is a graphic from downdetector.com.)

Sony's PlayStation Twitter feed posted at 6:51 AM PT that, "We're aware that some users are having issues logging into PSN - engineers are investigating."

Xbox Live, the online network for video game archrival Microsoft, was spawning far fewer reports on DownDetector this morning after its own outage last night, but Lizard Squad, the anonymous hacker or group of hackers that claimed responsibility for the outages in posts on Twitter, said it had pulled down the Xbox network as well. DownDetector said problems spiked again this morning beginning at 7:47 AM PT.

The Xbox support Twitter feed was responding busily to lots of support issues but did not reflect an outage there.

PREVIOUSLY, WEDNESDAY, 7:46 PM: The PlayStation Network was down beginning in late afternoon, as attempts to access the site returned error messages that the network was down. A check of Internet monitoring sites showed thousands of complaints.

The hackers who attacked PlayStation parent Sony Pictures Entertainment last month had promised a "Christmas gift" if the company proceeded with the release of movie The Interview, which has been made available online ahead of a limited theatrical release, which starts tomorrow. PSN's latest troubles might be related to the SPE hack. Business Insider was reporting that Microsoft's Xbox Live network, which is selling/renting The Interview on demand, also was down. An anonymous hacker group called Lizard Squad claimed responsibility for the outages in posts on Twitter. Lizard Squad also claimed credit for distributed denial-of-service attacks on the PlayStation Network in August and again earlier this month.

Subscribe to Deadline Breaking News Alerts and keep your inbox happy.

READ MORE ABOUT:

PLAYSTATION NETWORK
SONY ATTACK
XBOX LIVE

1K+ Comments

ADVERTISEMENT

More From Deadline

After Starring In 'The Morning Show,' Writer-Director Mark Duplass Reassesses All Of His Endeavors

Amanda Kloots, Wife Of Broadway Actor Nick Cordero, Shares Details On His Memorial Service

Disney World Reopening Gets Mixed First Reactions As Fans Give Park's Welcome Back Videos Horror Treatment

'Chicken Run' Actress Julia Sawalha Says She Is Being Re-Cast In Sequel For "Sounding Too Old"

Rock Band Great White Issues Apology After Performing Concert For Mask-less Audience

Cinderella's Castle Paint Gets Mixed Reviews During Its Reveal, Reminding Some Of Archival Sleeping Beauty

3,651 Comments

Anonymous on December 24, 2014 7:53 pm

Losers

Daniel on December 29, 2014 10:02 am

yup

Anonymous on December 27, 2014 1:03 am

Psn is back up

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:05 pm

I just got a ps4 and madden 15 when I got home to play psn was down and my new ps4 keeps freezing when I try to play madden

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:03 pm

Psn on bs hurry up so i can finish beating ppl on 2k park lol

Marv Nebbitz, The PC Gaming Dude on December 26, 2014 7:39 pm

Bottom line: Console = Loser.

PC GAMER = MASTER RACE

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:13 pm

Fuck sake what is wrong with Sony they are a billion dollar company and they get hacked and on the other hand Microsoft is up on there feet while Sony picks there ass I might return my ps4 if I can't play tomorrow.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:37 pm

Are you retarded? Have you not read a single word in this whole article? Xbox both 360 and 1 are down too!

Just A Young Kid on December 26, 2014 4:42 pm

Anonymous please help stop the lizard squad u might be my only chance to play advanced warfare

R04R_Girlyy on December 26, 2014 4:09 pm

Fix it please sony

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:50 pm

Please fix this Sony

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:38 pm

This is such bd

Death on December 26, 2014 2:31 pm

Oliver Queen

XBOX 1 on December 26, 2014 2:31 pm

Well it's funny that your having a poor day sence we are in to the name calling what you speak is what you are a crying 2 year old. So stop being such a cheap buy down

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:24 pm

Why PS4 no one has Xbox live

Daniel on December 26, 2014 1:16 pm

your right, i cant play the crew. and its still down i got sad as anyone else could. two days are they hacking it again when it gets fixed? or are they spamming the hack?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:59 am

I got the crew for Christmas and you need psn hurry up plz :z

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:08 am

Fuck off, cut !

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:06 am

Fuck off

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:59 am

It would be funny if rockstar needed another reason to not bring out the bank heist in 2015 on gta v online and so they planed all of this and created the lizard squad to cover their tracks and say that the hack attacks cause them to delay the heist for another year haha

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:05 am

your the loser

Bruh on December 25, 2014 9:36 pm

Hey Sony if you keep getting hacked. I probably won't buy your crap and might move to Xbox. It's a shame because I was with Playstation console for a while and houser they were better

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:16 am

Hey dumbass Microsoft got hacked to ...lol

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:16 am

Um... Xbox is getting attacked too. No reason to be mad at one company there's nothing either of them can do at the moment

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:08 am

Unfortunately Xbox is suffering the same attack, so you would be in the same boat.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:03 am

It's not a hack.... And it happened to xbox too.. I swear peoplr today must have rocks for brains or are blind.. It's a DDoS attack not a hack. All they do is download a botnet script for a webserver and press a button. Anyones unborn child can do it.

Anonymous on December 27, 2014 8:12 am

Well, if they are so easy to do, why is Sony having such a hard time getting PSN back up?

Anonymous on December 28, 2014 9:25 pm

Never heard the phrase quick and efficient?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:53 am

They are getting hacked too

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:44 am

Xbox Live is hacked dumb@ss...

Cax on December 26, 2014 6:37 am

Xbox was hacked too, both xbox live on xbone and psn on ps4 are down, please leave,you and your ignorance doesn't deserve to be part of the gaming community

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:35 am

Xbox is getting hacked too dummy.

Christopher Raymond on December 26, 2014 6:30 am

Xbox live gets hacked on the regular. PSN, for all of its faults, is definitely the lesser of the two evils.

Thesmartestpersonyouneveret on December 26, 2014 6:17 am

Ddos attacks while not sophisticated require some note worthy lvl of acknowledgement. Although they are not hacks they are t he equivalent to trying to fit an entire high school of kids inside a wendys to order water.. that causes problems. Make sense?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:59 am

Xbox is down too so what's your point? Ps Sony don't care what you do, boo hoo, don't go, NOT

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:49 am

Xbox is down to lol

Jim on December 26, 2014 5:26 am

Sony may as well shut their doors. Bruh isn't going to buy their products anymore. That will surely bankrupt them.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:05 am

Hey xbox got hacked asmall well

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:01 am

Lmao Xbox got hack too dumb fuck

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:17 am

You miss the part where XBL is also suffering?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:17 am

But Xbox got hacked too, you're not gaining anything by switching systems, just obtaining the same result.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:10 am

Xbox got hacked as well today.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:04 am

yes, switch to Xbox and feel stupid, because XBL is down too

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:44 am

Then go psn doesn't need ungrateful fans like u sometimes it isn't their fault their targeted it could be because of other reasons that they are targeted above Xb

Ze_Hydra on December 26, 2014 3:42 am

You idiot.. Both Sony and Xbox are being Ddosed by lizard squad.. Moving to Xbox wont fix anything.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:33 am

You need to pay monthlyly on xbox and buy like the psn plus

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:10 am

Xbox is also down lol

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:09 am

Xbox is having it worse

Alvina on December 26, 2014 2:40 am well sony have not been hacked i recommend finding out what really happened. xbox has the same trouble so no good going to them.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:33 am

Xbox live is hacked too...

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 1:32 am

Xbone was hacked as well! Rofl!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 1:29 am

You do realize xbox one got hacked to right? Rofl!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 1:20 am

Xbox also got hacked my cousin was lucky enough to get an xbox one for Christmas Eve but now they can't play it I think some people just read the title of articles and post comments right away.

Emron on December 26, 2014 1:07 am

you know Xbox Live got hacked just the same?

Dick on December 26, 2014 12:33 am

Same I agree

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:22 am

Xbox got hacked too.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:52 pm

Idiot Xbox get a hacked all the time.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:41 pm

Xbox is having the same issues...

Deadwalker on December 25, 2014 9:22 pm

douchebags

Your Brain On Xbox on December 25, 2014 8:21 pm

ROTFLMFAO

1,149 comments. Mostly one sentence. Just goes to prove that too much video play cooks the human brain.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:08 am

Oh? As opposed to three sentences, two of which are only two words apiece? At least make a good argument if you're going to do it at all. And yes, this IS only three sentences as well.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:45 am

Lmmfao.... Preach!

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:11 pm

Lol, ever u say rocks for brains

Daniel on December 25, 2014 6:41 pm

It going

George on December 25, 2014 4:36 pm

When will the sever be back on

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:13 am

Probably never

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:00 am

Your mum

SonicbelikeBrah on December 25, 2014 11:37 pm

Do any of u have a ps3 if u do ps3 severs has not shutdown for some reson ps4 severs are down so u have to play on that cuz my ps4 will not work at all but my ps3 and pstv work fine for me.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 6:17 pm

Never.. Because you're alla bunch of dipshittin dumbasses

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 4:29 pm

When will the network be back on

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:01 am

This is fucked

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 8:35 pm

It's back

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 5:35 pm

Let me know

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 5:14 pm

How long its going to take for pan be back up and running

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 3:33 pm

From a hackers point of view this was probably the dumbest shut I have ever seen. Yeah cool we get it hack a major corporation to "stick it to the man". yet you could of at least had a goal. At the end of the day the "hack" had no effect on the corporations because the still pulled in there projected amount of income just off of system sails alone. I for one can promise that this LIZARD group has done nothing to either of the major companies. They are absolutely working their asses off trying to fix the issue, but while laughing at it the whole way through. They have done nothing to effect the income that these business have made or will make even in the future. Because at the end off all of this there are still only two major gaming systems on the market that have the capacity and the capabilities to provide user with an interface in which they can participate in online game play at a advanced level across the globe. So at the end of this ordeal nothing has changed and nothing will change. People have, do, and will continue to purchase these systems and the need for a online gaming experience will never change.

So Hacker -0.....Gaming Community 1

Also I reply want to play some BF4..... :)

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:33 pm

No they are doing it right. People need to go for walks and hack. Not play games.

Anonymous on December 27, 2014 1:44 am

Shut up.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:18 pm

Who are you to be telling what people should be doing? If people want to play video games they'll play video games, you're nobody special.

Billy on December 25, 2014 2:35 pm

Yuh

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 12:58 pm

Low lifes

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 9:57 pm

High lifE

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 8:42 pm

U can't talk u are a fake anonymous

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 4:22 pm

Yup

Nick on December 26, 2014 11:03 am

I'm sorry but saying its just ddos overloading the servers makes it worse that Sony a billion dollar company after 3 days haven't sorted is a joke why haven't they got anything in place to stop this straight away

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 6:50 pm

At least encrypt the files with a made up language or something. I want to play my battlefield

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:28 am

I feel ur pain. I to want to do online in gta and i need the service to fix unity. This shit is annoying.

Superdoooperpooper on December 25, 2014 9:59 pm

they are not hacking files, they are just creating artificial traffic to overload the host and cut its ability to communicate with legit clients.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 8:50 pm

Yes battlefeild please

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 7:51 pm

Me too man

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 7:30 pm

No shit man lol

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 7:16 pm

Damn straight doggie

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 1:27 pm

I bet they were 2 stupid to think of their name they had 2 asked their younger siblings for their name, yet smart enough 2 hack the Xbox network and psn. Bunch of weetods!

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 4:55 pm

They didnt hack shit, IF it was even this "Lizard" group, they merely performed a DDoS on the server. Anyone with resources can do it.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:26 pm

Da fuck u know bout it spill

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:36 pm

Yeah My friend Ddos my school

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:31 am

Will do shit you're just a noob hackers if u are professionals you should stop them

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:07 am

Except this group anonymous can hack into our government and arm nuclear missiles if they want and they have to prove they could

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 11:49 pm

So true, thats not hacking its merely spamming a server. Anyone can do it, you can even use command prompt

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 3:57 pm

Why they doing this?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:33 pm

They are like the grinch How the lizards stole christmas

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:06 am

Attention

Tyson on December 25, 2014 10:31 pm

I just got a ps4 for Christmas and I have a free download for nba2k15 but I cant even GO ON PLAYSTATION STORE

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 8:32 pm

They think they ruin christmas for everyone.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 3:18 pm

obviously they are pretty freaking smart, the name reminds me of squirtle squad off of pokemon. plus the fact if what they put is true, taking down both psn and xbox isn't the easiest task in the world.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:02 pm

It is actually

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:39 am

Yall know it is ps4s fault the lizard squad said on twitter a month ago tht they will hack them but obviously ps4 isn't afraid and now look at them and us the least they can do is give us 1 free thing off the play station store and no one will care anymore

RogerWilco on December 26, 2014 10:25 am

This all about greed and compensation. If they would have kept the option to play these 60 dollar games offline and give us the option at least then not so bad all the online crap could be over looked but no . These companies want the 60 for the game which can only be played on line. and then they want another 50 to play it online for time served. Really I want the price of the game and the online option back . Or i just take the 400 dollar console back and games that have yet to be un-opened back. Compensate us with free online for the 2015 year and turn back the greed and allow that 60 dollar piece of plastic with the game data on it to be played off line should the user want . Period ..turn back the clock to free off line game play . Until the Seal team gets deployed to rectify this attack.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:59 am

Which is awesome but makes me wonder if it's Nintendo hacking there systems so people but wii u

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:56 pm

Actually mass spamming is easy, but for companies rich from us, they need a more secure safegauded system. If you prove real to sign in crisis wouldnt have happened

Superdoooperpooper on December 25, 2014 9:57 pm

actually it is very easy especially on a busy day . if they even had any effect, it was mostly the high traffic volume of xmas combined with penny pinching over server demands.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 8:47 pm

They used a bot to flood the network that's it. It's just a larger version of ddos programs that modders use online to boot people that's it. Fairly simple actually.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 8:36 pm

To the 2nd comment: Xbox live isn't any better. Loose.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 7:56 pm

No they are far from intelligent a twelve year old can sit on a computer for a hour and learn to ddos it's very simple

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 7:18 pm

PSN, cmon, that's not a challenge to hack

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 6:55 pm

Just flood the servers with fake access requests isn't that sophisticated of an attack.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 2:39 pm

SPEIRS IS THAT YOU!?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:55 am

yes omg just yes

D on December 25, 2014 10:41 am

losers no, jerks yes

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:54 am

I have a ps vita and I can't connect to party's psn store or add friends but the sad part is that I can play minecraft and fifa 13 online yet I can't get on certain apps on the vita FUCK THIS HACKING BULLSHIT FIX IT NOW

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 1:02 pm

Losers yes, jerks yes

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:19 pm

Well Ddos isn't as easy to deal as someone in the comments here think it is, especially with a network as large as Sony's. When an attack is done by a team they can flood the system from multiple ip's not just a single one. And no automated systems can deal with an attack coming from multiple points or at least it's very difficult. That's reason why Ddos is so effective especially against large network where multiple point of entry

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:02 am

This is totally bs psn 4 where's my refund? Recompinsate us period your shit is week as hell. I'm 100% sure all these people here sitting around here mad because your lazy cost cutting asses can't fix it. The problems with security and otherwise. You SUCK! Simple and plain!!!! Get it!!! Fix this shit imitately!!!!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:26 pm

It has absolutely nothing to do with security

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:56 pm

What do you mean we don't pay for PSN Subscriptions? Do you not know how PS4 online gaming works, it's not free anymore. You literally have to pay, especially if you bought destiny.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:39 pm

Psn is absolute Blshit

AsynCronis on December 26, 2014 11:55 am

Apparently none of you have any idea of how advanced networking really works. DDoS attacks are nothing more than a SynAck Flood (which can be blocked). The best way to block a SynAck Flood is to set a limiter on incoming handshakes. Once a signal raises above the limit set (1000 or so packets...whatever) the server rejects and bounces the signal back. In essence, flooding the sending IP and cause a cache crash. Problem solved. I use this same tactic when people try booting me offline with jbooter when I am gaming. I am a counter-hacker btw. I dont attack-I defend. And FYI-just because you download a patch or file and install it doesnt make you a hacker...it makes you a modder. Real hackers write their own coding strings for implementation.

In any case, why are you guys complaining about PSN? Its not like you pay for a subscription like 360. So what are you actually losing? Play hours...use that to rebuild you broken marriages and relationships from spending so much time with a screen and controller.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:52 am

This also happened to the Xbone so why all the hate for a refund. P.S. is you want a refund find you're Receipt and drive your lazy ass back to Walmart.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:32 am

Dude. It's not their fault they got DDOSed ifs pretty much impossible to stop, so stop getting into a shitty with them it's not they're fault they got hacked even with the best "security" they'd still get DDOSed

Tim O'Rourke on December 26, 2014 11:23 am

I'M PAYING FOR A SERVICE THAT IS NOT BEING PROVIDED.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:34 am

^^^ u spelled immediately wrong

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:25 am

DDoS attacks ARE easy to stop... you just have to invest in your infrastructure. Sony just don't assign much money to DDoS. Plain facts.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:08 am

1. You act like it is just Sony with this problem.
 2. DDOS attacks are impossible to stop, because no matter how good your system is, it always has its limit.
 3. If you got a refund for everytime that server something was shut down, companies would go out of business.
 4. If you look at the comments, you will see that most people aren't mad at PSN and Xbox Live because you can't stop a DDOS.
-

Corey Gwaltney on December 26, 2014 8:59 am

If they compensate they do so out of their own kindness they owe us crap since this isn't their fault and it isn't because they lack security. Just like the last guy said, it's a ddos attack which not even the FBI could stop on their servers. I'm as irked as you but I know this isn't Sony's fault =/.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:58 am

Weak. Not 'Week'.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:47 am

Compensated? you want Sony to compensate you because some idiot kids are overloading servers, this is in no way Sony's fault, they are doing all they can to get the problem fixed, grow up and deal with it.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:32 am

You gotta be able to use the English language properly if you want to be taken seriously brah... You're garbage

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:04 am

oh really? price drop on crappy xbox one consoles, quality systems? I don't think so! haha lol, #xboxonemadefortwoyearolds.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:57 pm

whenever I think of xbox, I think back when I was 15

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:53 pm

How is the Xbox for 2 year olds when they are doing better to fix there servers. I am a ps4 user and xbox is still doing better to fix it, when Sony just keeps tweeting the same thing over and over. At least the Xbox one is usable with online. Ps4 isn't at all.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:11 pm

Well would you rather have a half assed fix or something that can possibly get rid of the issue all together in rather have server down now than they go down sometime in the future. Ddos is pretty difficult to stop.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:25 pm

Lol ps4 is for the two year olds. Play station is just a fad, all the two year olds ran out and bought one at launch and are beginning to realize it has terrible games and service with false promises of better graphics. Xbox one ftw. Enjoy your piece of shit 4.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:21 pm

Made for two year olds? Lol, well hey guess what, I'm online right now on xbl.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:30 pm

At least my "console for two year olds" has been working just fine. I haven't had any interruptions and been playing all day and night yesterday and this morning and afternoon.

Anonymous on December 27, 2014 10:42 am

Sorry for my fellow psn users they are really dumb.Happy Holidays

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:18 pm

You used a hash tag I'm done shows all I need to see

Deleted on December 26, 2014 9:09 am

You are what give us PS4 users a bad name.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:08 am

Ha lol ps4 master race

Grow Up on December 25, 2014 9:08 pm

Awww cute looks like your the two year old talking crap about xbox. Makes me sad I'm a ps4 user and you guys are a bunch of idiots

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 7:16 pm

To bad ps4 is a pile of shit

Deleted on December 28, 2014 9:34 pm

Why does everything have to come down to what system is better. It's the exact same as saying black people are better than white people. I swear every website I go to about my console half the comments are people fighting over which is better. I think this event needs to happen to some of us so we can all wake up and say hey maybe I should go outside and do something constructive. Now of course not all of us. Einstein's quote is upon us. "The day technology trumps human interaction is the day we will have a generation of idiots." Einstein was right once again. Looking down this page I have slowly lost hope for my generation. I'm 14 and I officially vow to be an exception to Einstein's quote.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 5:14 pm

Lol and you're stilling using #? Enough said.

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 4:29 pm

Their ALL CRAP!!!!

Trevor Philips on December 26, 2014 7:25 pm

they should give all of us $150 towards a game of our choice who's with me

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:32 am

*They're=They are *Their=Shows possession *There=Place

Deleted on December 26, 2014 2:04 pm

Well said

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 4:58 pm

They're

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:32 pm

Are they ever gona fix this I just got to lvl 50 on gta online And that games the best game in the world u have all that money sony and u can't stop a couple hackers are u guys doing anything

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 4:52 pm

They're

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 11:43 pm

Lol ^^^^

Amiee-Baby on December 25, 2014 3:42 pm

Come on I want to play black ops2

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:38 pm

Omg WTF is going on... I gave my son the playstation 3 for Christmas and he says that it wont connect to psn... Please... Sony have the Christmas spirit and get your shit together

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:05 am

I also second that

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:38 am

I 2nd that the 3rd

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:04 am

If Sony gets hacked again your not buying their crap no more lol what are you going to get a x box one lmao Microsoft got hacked to

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:34 pm

Yeah, bu their service is partially operational as for Sony. They're still struggling to bring back their service online.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:52 pm

Nah il givem 1 more chance if they get hacked again bye PS3 and hi pc

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:22 pm

They did, but they're also back online bro.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:27 pm

I've yet to have my service disrupted. Played all yesterday. All night. All morning. On Xbox One. Not a damn issue on my end. :)

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 9:54 pm

lkr

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 9:37 pm

I second that

Anonymous on December 27, 2014 11:43 am

These lizard squad hackers could just go to hell

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 7:27 pm

WTf

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 12:24 pm

yea xbox is for two years old

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:44 pm

we dont care wat u say so shut up

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:51 am

there still good

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:29 pm

Imao this is huhlurious

Mark O'Hara on December 27, 2014 4:43 pm

Megan, you know they couldn't do anything to prevent it right? You clearly don't understand what actually happened.

Lol. Omg I'm gonna go play WOW....This shit be gettin on my nerves

too funny man

plz stop hacking sony i got advanced warfare for christmas i just want to play online with my friends and level up sony fucking sort this shit out and do it quickly thouns of people are really really getting pissed off plz plz sort it.

you think its fukin funny wan ker how about you spend 750 dollars over christmas for your son get games other things etc only for him to be upset thismis bs

I'm getting a wii never herd no problems with them

[illegible]

I think we are ALL on the same boat as you on this one my friend we ALL feel your pain of course not the people calling us losers because they are just jelly that we have playstations and Xboxes and THEY DONT so really their the losers they don't feel or understand the pain and frustration that us console players feel so f those people they are just haters from different creators and idgaf about what they have to say ~ I am anonymous an I approve this message PEACE

Me too!

Anonymous on December 27, 2014 4:45 am

yeah same, so effin lame. what i don't understand is why do they have to start improving their systems for hack proof right after they get hacked, why can't they do it before the damn problem.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:10 pm

Sorry bro hang in there it's definitely worth it but prepare yourself for a long grind

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:19 pm

Ikrrrrrrr!!!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:16 pm

Wow, aren't you spoiled. It'll be back up in a day or two; find something else to do. Maybe spend time with your family or friends

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:50 pm

Jajaja
I am playing GT5 in PS4
I play destiny when this is back on

Pooorkyyyyyy on December 26, 2014 6:35 pm

i love how nobody goes for THE COMPANY WHO BASICALLY SAVED GAMING AND HAS HAD MANY GREAT RELEASES THIS YEAR. aka nintendo

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:31 pm

your complaining when u got a ps4 for xmas, when people are out there just wishing they can get a bite of food for christmas, shut up

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:30 pm

Read a book, dammit.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:16 pm

You need to keep crap like this from happening this is the second time since I've had a ps3...

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:46 pm

Then get some friends and chill with them lol

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:35 pm

Your not missing anything incredible destiny is mediocre

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:27 pm

say thing for me only I did get NHL 15 too

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:57 pm

Hahahahaha

Nmom on December 26, 2014 4:34 pm

ditto! spend 600.00 on a system, extra controllers and warranty..only to NOT be able to play anything???!?! merry Christmas! NOT. and no one at sony support can answer a phone or live chat!? thanks for leaving your consumers hanging! #feelingjipped

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:08 pm

christmas is not about the gifts

Marshyall on December 26, 2014 3:44 pm

same man

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:29 pm

Happend to me 2

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:56 pm

Try spending time with your famy

Deleted on December 26, 2014 2:32 pm

Got destiny and I was so exited to play and see the graphics. It looks sweet meanwhile ps3 still works for online just not ps4

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:26 pm

Me too i really want to play online I'm really bored

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:17 pm

Go outside scrub, play the game of LIFE for once.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:07 pm

SAME HERE! THEY NEED TO UPDATE THIS ALREADY I WANT TO PLAY.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 1:57 pm

Me too

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 1:31 pm

SAME HERE THATS WHY EVERYONE MADE GAMES IS TO PLAY AND HANG OUT WITH UR FRIENDS NOT TO HACK COMPANAYS LIZARD Squad PLS STOP IT AND HACK UR OWN SYSTEM IF UR THAT BORED ATLEAST HACK ONLY GAME SITES LIKE ARMOR GAMES PLS STOP THIS NUISANCE BEFORE U GET YOURSELVES KILLED BY THE MILITARY

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 1:14 pm

Me too bro me too

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:31 pm

EXACTLY ME TOOOOO

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:10 pm

I got all the games the first day ps4 came out I paid 1, 000 dollars lizard squad u guys r no life losers

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:09 pm

why not try spending quality time with your family,

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:53 am

Learn to write properly.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:45 am

SAME WITH ME

RRRRRRRRRR

I JUST SAT THERE WAITING TO HERE BACK FROM PSN

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:41 am

Same here....

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:39 am

I feel your pain. They need to stop making games that have required online access so I don't have to worry about stuff like this.

Tim O'Rourke on December 26, 2014 11:17 am

And they DO NOT MAKE MOST OF THE GAMES 4 PLAYING OFF LINE WITH FRIENDS ANYMORE (NOT HAPPY WITH NEW WAY GAMEING IS GOING)

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:06 am

Same here!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

Marcus The Carcass on December 26, 2014 11:06 am

“It’s going to be ok breath and repeat “.

Anonymous Is My Bitch on December 26, 2014 11:06 am

Orrrrrrrrrr..... step away from the TV and visit family and friends like a grown up.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:01 am

You cant even ply single player games if your not connected

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:54 am

ik right ive been tryin to play some of that advanced warfare but i guess that will never happen

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:54 am

Same Here. Sony better hand out compensation. Feel like I should go watch this movie just cause I’m being punished for it!!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:47 am

Guys! Are you all daft?! It’s a DDOS attack. Theres not much you can do about DDOS no matter how big youre company is and how much money youve got. Thats why DDOS is so effective. Stop blaming the companys. they cant do anything about it.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:19 am

I got a Ps4 for Christmas and it came with four games 1 pick offer and I can’t even make a psn account to do so. freakin crap

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:05 am

Exact same problem here. It looks amazing, but I can't do a thing!! AAARG

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 10:04 am

Shut up you guys its a game

John Newman on December 26, 2014 10:04 am that sucks so bad man sony needs to fix this shit or im going to pc.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:59 am

lkr i got the same this pissed me off so bad !!!!!!!!!!!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:46 am

Spend time with your family?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:42 am

Same I not buying their stuff if they keep getting hacked

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:29 am

Bruh me 2

PureGamingHD on December 26, 2014 9:13 am

it is probably possible to stop a DDoS attack just require a kind of Captcha before someone can request access. DDoS doesn't know how to do Captchas :3

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:12 am

Man like feel your pain, remember whose responsible. Lizard mother fuckers go die cuts!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:11 am

same

To You on December 26, 2014 9:06 am

Same here I got ps4 for Christmas and I got gta5 and I want to earn online money for heists

Mike on December 26, 2014 9:05 am

factz boi

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:56 am

A special vendor called Xur usually comes to The Tower on Friday and Saturday and this week he has what I want and I can't play. Great

Chris Ramos on December 26, 2014 8:40 am

Lol that sucks I'm level 30 warlock

Geoff Tracy on December 26, 2014 8:37 am

Arc is correct..not much can be done with DDOS attacks

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:15 am

Destiny is awesome

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 8:04 am to the guy above saying "if it continues to get hacked", a Ddos attack is not hacking. It is also impossible to stop. it is basically hundreds of thousands of artificial access requests to the servers that completely overload them and cause them to crash. Nothing anyone can do against them and they are very easy to do. the only hard part of them is covering your tracks.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:26 am

You do realise Xbox live have been hacked also so not getting playstation makes no difference and lizard squad are hacking both just coz they can

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:22 am

Exactly! ! I GOT DESTINY & I'M SO MAD I CAN'T PLAY IT

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:53 am

don't get destiny then

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:50 am

dude I got a ps4 for Christmas and I got gta 5 and advanced warfare and I hate playing campaign !

NA on December 26, 2014 6:10 am

ME TO AND IM GETTING BOARD IT WAS DOWN ALL DAY YESTERDAY THEY BETER BE UP SOON

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:59 am

The struggle is real lol. I finally hit level 30 and now I can't play it.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:59 am to be fair destiny is a crappy over hyped game anyways

Arc on December 26, 2014 5:41 am

Congratulations, everyone. By "not buying their crap again" you do exactly what this supposed squad of reptiles was hoping you'd do. Oh, and try to find a service immune to DDoS attacks. You won't.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:39 am

That sucks, I've had my ps4 and let me tell ya destiny is the best game I've hammered in a while but I'm going through the same problem. I could chew my hand off lol

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:32 am

Sorry this happened to you kind of bs on a Christmas but be patient its the best next Gen consoles to date I have a solution until servers servers come back on if you have RedNox rental kiosk near bye for $2 a day you ccan rent certain ps4 games I recommend
GTA V FarCry 4 The Last Of Us DriveClub

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:30 am

Xbox was hacked 2

Lynn on December 26, 2014 5:22 am

On a separate side note....there is campaign....And on another side note...there's a g in the word campaign. HAPPY HOLIDAYS!

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:21 am

just got destiny to i know your pain

Dafuq on December 26, 2014 5:10 am

Same:(

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:06 am

Yo same sh out with me n my girl fuc km that I'm turning super sayin 4 now..

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 5:03 am

@bruh, it is not hack, its a ddos attack.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:59 am

Lol gimp

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:53 am

They still have video stores where you live?

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:46 am

I am literally im the exact same situation

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:17 am

We all have to eat shit lol

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:45 am

i also know how you are feeling lol

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:39 am

I kno man same here arrrghhhhh

Jovon on December 26, 2014 3:30 am

IKR I OT A PS4 FOR CHRISTMAS TOO AND I CANT PLAY BCUZ I HAVE ...THE CREW.... AND HAVE TO BE PLAYED ONLINE ALONE CHPZ FIX THIS SHIT AND FAS

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 2:03 am

Oh...so you didn't do ANYTHING with family. You're the reason I'm glad Sony and Xbox live are down.
Enjoy your fucking Christmas asshole.

Psn on December 26, 2014 1:50 am

Ikr Ic play 2k15 online they need to get this fixed NOW

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 1:07 am

Sony gets hacked because they are awesome. Why screw with the few XBox One owners there are.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 12:30 am

Same Here I'm P*ssed off about it aswell but its not there fault. Its harder to defend from an attack than it is to create one

PhDnerd on December 25, 2014 11:15 pm

I'm in the same boat!! So incredibly frustrating! I was irritated that they made the game completely online with no option to play if the network is down, but fell in love with Destiny anyway.

This is exactly the reason I wish there was an offline way to play too. I really hope that these hackers get what's coming to them. Preferably in the form of a squad of Spec. Forces.

Now I want a COD expansion where we get to take out the bastards...

Frank on December 25, 2014 11:09 pm

Me too, youd think with all the money going to sony they could fix it

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:19 pm

I'm sayin

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 10:18 pm

Same here

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 9:49 pm

Right me to

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 9:49 pm

I feel your pain. Same way with me. I went to the video store and rented games because I was bored

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 9:46 pm

That's what I've been doing!!

Bruh on December 25, 2014 9:37 pm

If Sony continues to get hacked I am not buying their crap again

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 6:13 pm

Spell check moron it should read two year olds.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:07 pm

Hahaha

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 7:47 pm

Pan is OK Xbox sucks why can't they make games like the classics

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:22 pm

Lol ur just as dumb it 2 years old and xbox sucks anyways

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 2:57 pm

Xbox is for two years old. What the fuck.

Mark O'Hara on December 27, 2014 4:40 pm

ruffneck, you know they can't stop a ddos attack right? it's not a hack, it's literally the network receiving too many requests at once.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 11:32 pm

Xbox and PlayStation are both for two-year olds. PC is for more serious gaming really

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 3:52 pm

Nope, psn has and will always be vulnerable for reasons you could not comprehend. You're sparking an argument for no apparent reason.

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 9:10 am

Two year olds*, you sound like a hypocrite.

Ruffneck on December 26, 2014 6:54 am

Sony this is a stupid problem to have, your a billion dollars company fix this freaking crap already.....

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 6:16 pm

You're both idiots

Anonymous on December 25, 2014 2:32 pm

How is Xbox for two year olds? LOL

Anonymous on December 27, 2014 8:41 am

Because you play it

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 6:46 pm

They probably will get tracked and caught

Anonymous on December 26, 2014 4:18 am

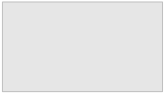

For fucks sake sony fix this shit. It was even anounced. Fucking losers. Please lizard squad fuckkk ng die execute evrey single one od them please.

← Older Comments

ADVERTISEMENT

Trending on Deadline

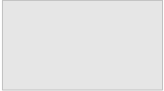

1 Disney World Reopening Gets Mixed First Reactions As Fans Give Park's Welcome Back Videos Horror Treatment

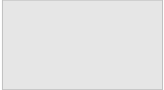

2 Florida Sets Record For Single-Day Covid-19 Cases As Disney World Reopens

3 President Donald Trump Tweetstorm - The Sunday Edition

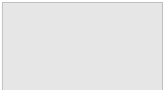

4 'Empire Strikes Back' Leads At The Weekend Box Office Again, 23 Years After Sequel's Special Edition

5 President Donald Trump Tweetstorm - The Saturday Edition

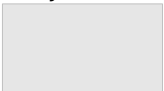

6 Nicole Thea Dies: The Pregnant YouTube Star Was 24

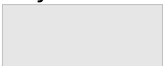

7 'Red Table Talk' Facebook Watch Episode With Will Smith, Jada Pinkett Smith Sets Record

8 Benjamin Keough Dies: Son Of Lisa Marie Presley And Grandson Of Elvis Presley Was 27

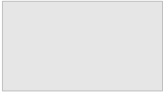

9 Naya Rivera Presumed Dead; Search For 'Glee' Actress Includes Surrounding Areas - Update

10 Lil Marlo Dies: Rapper On '2 The Hard Way' With Lil Baby May Have Been Shot

ADVERTISEMENT

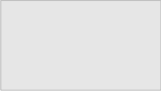

Signup for Breaking News
Alerts & Newsletters

Your Email

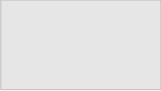

SIGN UP

Latest Business News

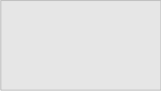

New York City Reports Zero Coronavirus Deaths For the First Time Since March

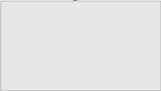

Rock Band Great White Issues Apology After Performing Concert For Mask-less Audience

Benjamin Keough Dies: Son Of Lisa Marie Presley And Grandson Of Elvis Presley Was 27

Ex-Pop TV Chief Brad Schwartz Exits Audible Exec Post After Just A Few Weeks

Marketplace

Newswire

Deadline|

About Us
Accessibility
Advertise

Legal|

Terms of Use
Privacy Policy
AdChoices
California Privacy Rights
Do Not Sell My Personal Information
EU Privacy Preferences

Sitemap|

TV
Film
Awardsline
Box Office
Business
International

Connect with Us

Get our latest stories in the feed of your favorite networks

Have a Tip?

We want to hear from you! Send us a tip using our anonymous form.

SEND US A TIP

Stay in the Know

Sign up for our breaking news alerts

Your Email

OUR SITES|

VARIETY
DEADLINE
ROLLING STONE
WWD
HOLLYWOODLIFE
GOLD DERBY
SPY
ROBB REPORT
FOOTWEAR NEWS
BGR
INDIEWIRE
SOURCING JOURNAL

Must Read Stories

HIDE ARTICLES

Kelly Preston Dies: ‘Jerry Maguire’ & ‘Mischief’ Actor Was 57

DEADLINE

Park Reopening Gets Mixed Reaction As It Juggles Capacity Constraints, Caution

DEADLINE

Peacock Chief Matt Strauss On Building A Streaming “Start-Up” In Turbulent Times

DEADLINE

‘Star Trek: Lower Decks’ Breaks Out Trailer, Key Art

DEADLINE
